Brazil is more than a Travel Destination

WELCOME TO MY AUGUST 2024 BRADESTINO® NEWSLETTER

Brazil had a significant presence at the 2024 Paris Olympics, sending a delegation of around 300 athletes who competed across various sports. The country achieved impressive results, securing a total of 20 medals: 4 gold, 8 silver, and 8 bronze.

Rebeca Andrade shined in gymnastics, winning a gold medal in the floor exercise and three silver medals in the vault, all-around, and team events.

Beatriz Souza earned gold in judo (+78 kg), Tatiana Weston-Webb claimed silver in surfing.

Brazil's performance placed them among the top 20 countries on the medal table, showcasing the depth and talent of their athletes across a range of disciplines.

On September 7 Brazil celebrates Independence Day. This is the celebration of Brazil's declaration of independence from Portugal on September 7, 1822.

Brazil's women's soccer team won a silver medal.

The Brazilian female soccer team was also present at the Paris Olympics and did win a silver medal. In the final, the U.S. defeated Brazil 1-0 thanks to Swanson's goal in the second half. For Brazil, it was an incredible run, especially for Marta. The soccer icon had an emotional rollercoaster of a tournament. She received a straight red card in the final group stage match against Spain, suspending her for the quarterfinal and semifinal matches. Still, Brazil was able to knock out France and Spain to reach the final, just in time for Marta's return. Marta's silver marked the end of her incredible international career as she already determined she would retire from the Brazil national team after the Paris Olympics. (Source: NBC Olympics)
